
Baseline and relabelled graphs share a base ID. They are related observations, not additional independent random graphs.